HIGH SCHOOL

FEBRUARY

MARCH

Sept. 6. They tried to stop school today, but they didn't get much done. Periods were so dinky you didn't have time even to speak to your friends before the bell rang. Glad I'm a sophomore. The freshmen had to go back this afternoon and take intelligence tests. Poor things!

Sept. 7. Renewed my acquaintance with the Bungalow—got another glass to add to my collection.

Sept. 9. Teachers began to pile on the work already.

Sept. 10. I like this thing of just going to school during the morning.

Sept. 12. All school party to-night, boy oh boy, did I ever have fun. Got in line twice and therefore had two dishes of ice cream.

Sept. 17. Y.W. Big and Little Sister Party. We played Bingo and I won two of the cutest 'lil loaves of bread. P.S. I bet they were samples.

Sept. 27. I don't like the Dean 'cause he picks on me. He bawled me out to-day and all I was doing was whispering to June.

Juco Faculty

Dean Walker guides Juco along her course with his noted quiet efficiency. In his Methods classes aspiring teachers learn how to administer the proper punishment to develish youngsters. H. A. Shumway, hired to teach the social sciences' gives many a would-be business man his first dose of economics and business administration, and besides, all his classes are drilled thoroughly in counting off by two's. Students desiring to know the baffling intricacies of higher mathematics enroll under the accurate tutelage of Miss Wrestler. Mr. Dick combines good hard work with dry humor to make his physics class as enjoyable as possible. English and lessons in publishing an annual are given by Miss Milford. All freshmen pass through her classes and some come back for more. Students learn to appreciate literature and the stage under the genial guidance of Mr. Nixon. Why!, a play just wouldn't be a play without Mr. Nixon's direction. He teaches amateurish actors how to please audiences. Languages are taught by Miss Beuchat, who can speak sweetly even if we can't all understand her. The fascinating insides of bugs and plants are laid bare by Miss Hutchinson in her zoology and botany classes. Who can ever forget her pleasing disposition in class, her patience in receiving late botany notebooks, and her kindness toward those who are a few minutes late to class? Even-tempered Mr. Coffman teaches the subject that is called chemistry by some, but something entirely different by those who have studied it. Mr. Mossman's history classes are noted for the rapt attention of the students—especially the feminine students. In his geology classes Mr. Choate teaches students to call unoffending little rocks by names we're sure they would resent if they were in a resentful mood. Miss Dail is the one teacher in school who gives minors and majors in one class.—Public School Music.

Student Council

The student Council is that student-governing body of the school that has remained so silent (so very silent) concerning its actions on making the college a better place to spend our "leisure time". But since there isn't much bettering to be done, could we expect them to be so dreadfully active—definetely no.

Each semester three members from each class are elected to serve for one semester. These, together with the class president and the student president, compose the membership. The president of the Sophomore class presides while the president of the Freshmen class acts as secretary.

The council's power is mostly that of recommendation, having little legislative authority—some ironical person would probably say none. However the council has passed on a great many of school problems. and on other plans for the betterment of the school.

One of the outstanding plans which the council has taken up had to do with the building up of better school spirit. The council had a committee study this problem. The recommendations from this committee set forth that better school spirit could be accomplished through the cooperation of all organizations and the school paper, as well as the individuals in the school.

For the first semester these were the members of the council: Dorothea Bear, John Stackley, and Frank Ellis represented the sophomore class; while Gordon Cary, Caroline Lindenbaum, and Bill Rice represented the freshmen. Dick Hudson acted as presiding officer and Bob Steiger as secretary. The second semester membership was changed to the following: Kenneth Secrist, Marjorie Gibson, and June Speechly representing the Sophomores, while "Smitty" Baker, Clarence Borger, and Dorothy McCully represented the Freshmen. Gerald Groves acted as president, while Clarence Borger acted as secretary.

Howard Belew was elected Student President at the beginning of the school year. The duties of this office are to represent the school at any time, and to serve as toastmaster at the spring banquet.

For advice on troubling situations and problems the council resorted to their sponsors, Miss Beuchat, Dean Walker, and Mr. Shumway.

COLLEGE ANNUAL

Early in the fall a vote taken by the student body showed a large majority in favor of publishing an annual. In November, therefore, the College Student Council chose Max Nixon for editor-in-chief of the Grizzly Growl. In addition to capable and careful editing Max has done all of the art work for this book in his usual inspired manner. At the same time the council appointed Ruth Creswell as assistant editor and Frank Ellis as business manager. Peggy Smith and Harley Holecek were selected later. Miss Milford was the sponsor. Other teachers and students whose contributions have helped to make this annual a success are Dean Walker, Keith Allen, June Speechly, John Stackley, Dick Hudson, "Danny" Lewis, Janet Courtright, Virgil Tyler, Wayne Tarmen, Maxine Walker, Howard Belew, Marjorie Neumann, Mildred Hughes, Mr. Mossman, "Smitty" Baker, and Gordon Davis.

After looking at the many fine annuals which have been published before, the members of the Annual Staff felt that they must work with all their might to have a book which could be termed a little better than the average.

Regardless of the handicap of our crowded condition, E.J.C. has had a wonderful year. We have had our ups and downs; our bad days and our good; we have succeeded, and at times we have failed; never-the-less we can surely say that this year has been one of the most successful years for E.J.C. When viewed in retrospect the past nine months present a pleasing picture of well rounded student achievement, and it is this picture which the annual staff has tried to preserve for you.—F.S.

COLLEGE PAPER

The Grizzly Growl is the official school paper, published weekly with the exception of Christmas week. This year the staff has been quite large; they have worked hard to make every paper a success. Clark Owens has been a very able and efficient editor throughout the year. Ruth Creswell acted as assistant editor first semester while Peggy Smith served as assistant second semester. Mr. Nixon held the position as chief boss, putting in and extracting news and gossip here and there.

While almost all of the staff members were without previous experience, several persons were found who were quite proficient in news gathering and writing various features and columns. Jack Stoltz wrote a column, similar to that of O. O. McIntyre, called E.J.C. Week by Week; items of school interest were commented upon and random thoughts were jotted down. Ruth Creswell (with the aid of others who told her the happenings from time to time) managed to compile the well-known column called Sweepings. Throughout the year "Gertie's" column held the high point of interest.—Why, as soon as the papers were out everyone got theirs to see if they had not been casually mentioned, or mentioned perhaps in a still more abrupt manner.

Besides the work of writing news, the paper was instrumental in getting the opinion of the students on various subjects such as school dances. These votes were considered as indices of the school opinion by the board of education.

The staff is very proud to have had several "scoops". The play casts of both Pi Delta Theta plays have been announced for the first time in the News. The write up of the fall play appeared in the Grizzly Growls before any other paper obtained it. Since the paper is put out weekly it is quite hard to get a scoop. Another important "scoop" was that of both sponsoring and giving out the first notices of the winners of the Juco King and Queen.

Toward the end of every year the staff spent nights and nights working on the souvenir edition, containing some fifteen pages devoted to the Grizzly Growls.

So all in all the staff bids you adieu by "Thanks a Million" for your support.

All of the athletic activities of the school are of great interest to the Gold Diggers. It is the duty of this club to sponsor the pep organization of the Juco girls. Any girl in college who has sufficient interest may become a member.

This year the girls adopted a regular uniform which they wore to all of the games. It consisted of purple sweaters, gold emblems, and black skirts. The emblems were designed and made by Max Nixon.

The chief activities of the club, other than the sponsoring of pep, were the giving of the football and basketball banquets in December and March. These banquets, honoring the players of the football and basketball teams, were the most beautiful ever presented in Juco history. By the cooperation of both pep clubs these two banquets, pep and stunt chapels were presented.

Every so often the Gold Diggers held sway over the stands at the football games. Somehow or other by their persuading with appetizing hot "dawgs" and candy they managed to roll those nickels and dimes into their coffers.

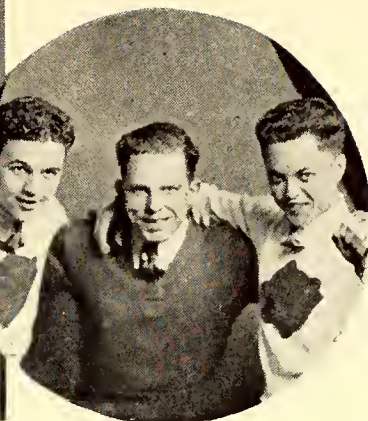

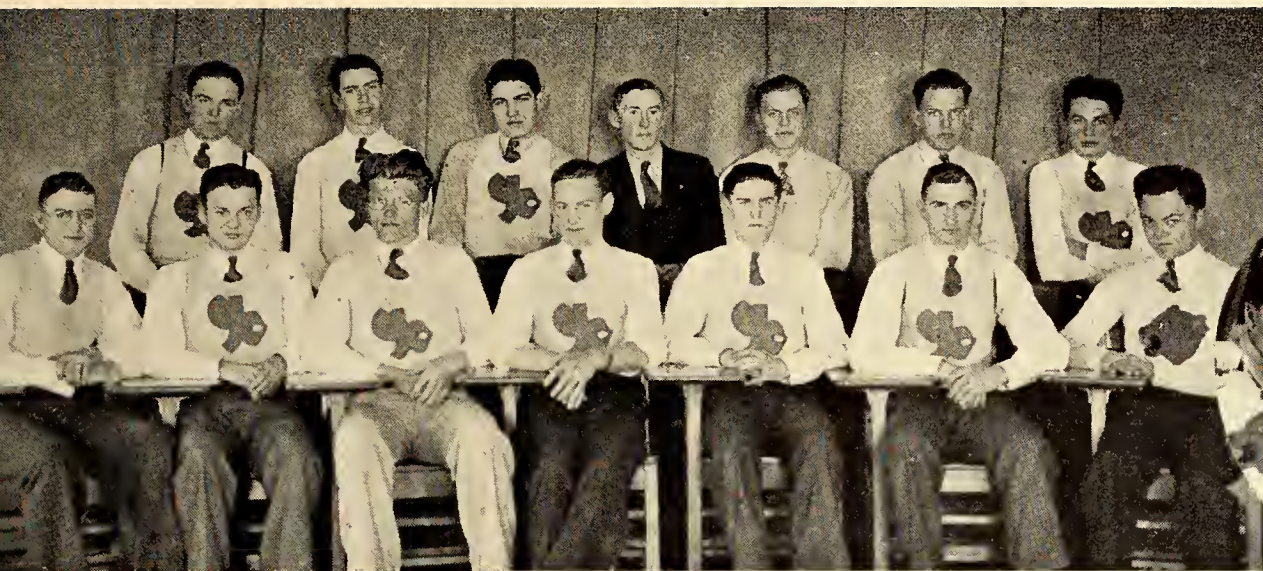

The officers of the club were Maxine Walker, president; Sarah Margaret Blair, vice-president; Caroline Lindendaum, secretary; Dorothea Bear and Emma Rice, treasurers; Miss Beuchat, sponsor.

GIRLS' PEP CLUB

GOLD DIGGERS

As in other years the Purple Pansies proved themselves quite peppy at times. The active membership was not particularly large—this probably was due to the inconvenience of the meeting times. New emblems, designed by Max Nixon, were used this year. The large E.J.C. emblems in purple and gold were worn on white sweaters. White shirts, dark trousers and purple ties completed the attire.

The club helped sponsor an all-school party the first week of school which enabled everyone to get acquainted. A picnic on East Hill was then held to repaint the school letters. Several bonfire pep rallies were held at the Athletic Field during football season, stunts at games, and programs in assembly comprised the minor events of the year. The two major events were those of sponsoring, in collaboration with the Gold Diggers, the two banquets honoring the players of the football and basketball teams.

Throughout the school year the pep clubs had difficulty of keeping a definite group of cheerleaders. At different times the following leaders appeared in almost every possible combination: Wayne Tarman, Charles Naill, Robert Wiggers, Sarah Margaret Blair, and Bill Brooks.

Plans were laid to continue the policy started last year—that of holding a spring roundup, which is in a few words, a party for all high-school seniors of the surrounding towns. But due to the building program the idea was abandoned.

This year's officers were Wayne Tarman, president; Max Nixon, vice-president; Allan Ayers, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Coffman, sponsor.

BOY'S PEP CLUB

PURPLE PANSIES

The day was balmy; so was the student. Into his mind came drifting those vagrant tumbleweeds of trivia which certain professors' lecturers seem to inspire. The end of the year was drawing close enough for comfort, which put him in the mood for reflections of the past year, with all its joys and woes and this and that. Sudden pop-ups like these:

Allan Ayer's nightmare in sociology class—The leap-year parties, where the men were men, and it didn't do them any good whatever—The idiotic but oh-so-clever sign language which had a brief, bright bogue—Bill Rice's daily Story-Telling Hour in the Bungalow. Mature entertainments; parents advised not to bring their children—Clark Owens going off-stage to read a letter and leaving the letter in full view of a giggling audience—Moving time, and the things that were lost in the shuffle, including students—Mrs. Jackson popping into classrooms and snatching NYA-ers—The school dance furore which achieved the notable result of letting the world and the school board in on the surprising knowledge that young people like to dance—The music that went round and round so fast it spun off into space—Shumway's fascinating side-excursions into the "less savory, but more interesting" by-paths of English history—Mr. Hughe's absent-mindedly ringing the fire bell and then darting into his office—The YMCA picnic, where some of the boys copped most of the watermellons and took to the hills. Gee, they were good—The rock quarry at night. Ah—The Henglish Hamateur 'Our in assembly, with its troupe of songsters—At this point the blaring bell broke into his somnolent stupor, and he prepared to leave the room. He was content. His time has been well wasted.—K.A.

We entered, without benefit of cymbals or kettle drums or like tympani, into college life. For a few of us everything was familiar—students, classes, buildings; but the rest of the new students either wandered back and forth apathetically like lost souls in a maze or strutted like a cock-of-the-walk in a new place.

There can be little doubt of the success of this new crop of students in all phases of school life: in scholarship, in forensics, and in athletics. In sports freshmen starred both in football and in basketball. Dashing backs, driving linemen, flashy forwards, and towering centers were the gifts of the Freshman Class.

That we have struggling scholars in our midst can not, without impertience, be denied. For most of us the brilliant student is just a bit withdrawn, though we all have brilliance if the dull surface is scratched deeply enough. To be trite and use the well-worn cliché, some of us might be called (in respect to scholarship) "diamonds in the rough".

The Muse of Music smiled upon the Freshman Class, endowing us generously with a string quartette, giving us three members of the boys' quartette and two of the girls' trio. Then, too, our orchestra numbered many freshmen among its members. So, while we're not exactly ardent devotees of the Arts yet we are well acquainted with them.

Some might say (probably those strongly prejudiced) that the Sophomores were the outstanding members of our school. And those same people point out that especially did they dominate the field of forensics and dramatics. But let me remind you, though the Sophs were fine, Freshmen did not lag behind. In the Dramatics Club play, Ibsen's "The Doll's House", two of the most important parts of the play were taken by freshmen. Also there was a freshman on one of the debate teams, and others did outstanding work in various speech activities.—G.D.

The El Dorado Junior College chapter of Delta Psi Omega was established in the spring of 1935. The Delta Psi Omega is a national junior college dramatics fraternity. There are ninety-three chapters scattered all over the United States.

To become a member of the club a person must have had a major part in a three act play, two minor parts, or must have been stage or business manager for a three act play. At the present time there are ten charter members, including the officers, Director, Mildred Hughes; Stage Manager, Ruth Creswell; Business Manager, Clark Owens.

Besides this national chapter the college boasts of the local club, Pi Delta Theta, organized in 1928. To be eligible for membership in the Pi Delta Theta the applicant must have taken a major part in a play, must have had a major business capacity in play production, or must have an intense desire for active work in dramatics.

It has been the policy of the club to present two major plays of at least three acts each school term and any number of smaller one or two act plays. This year Ibsen's "Doll's House" and "A Murder Has Been Arranged" by Emlyn Williams were presented.

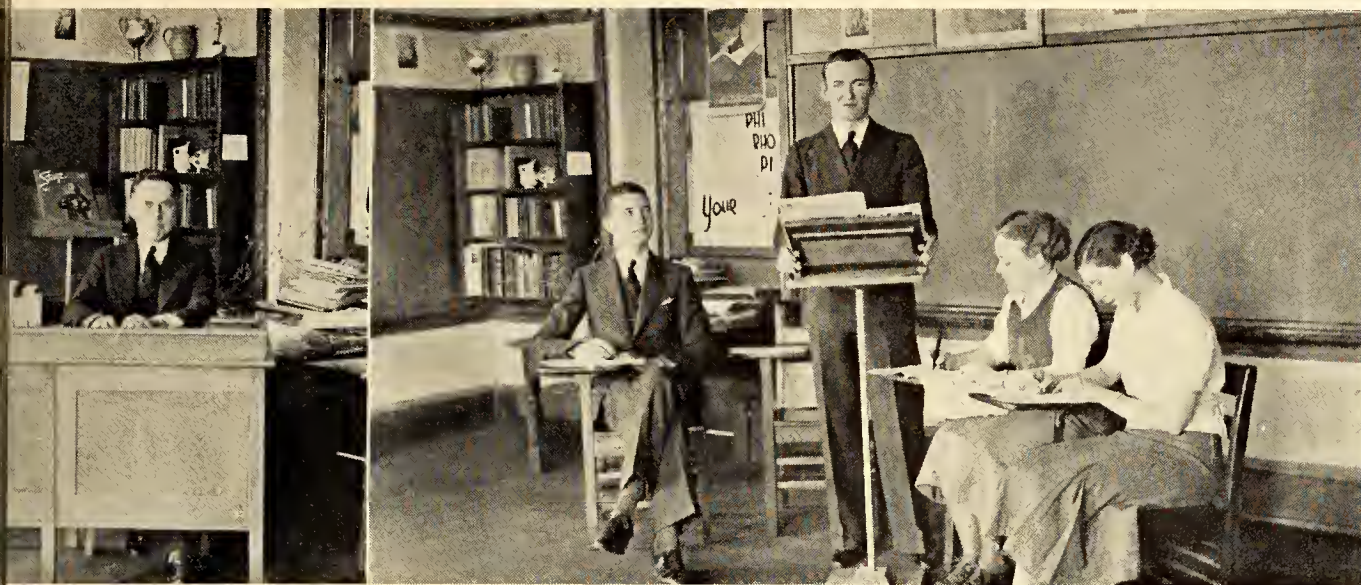

The officers of the Pi Delta Theta are President, Mildred Hughes; Vice-president, Robert Steiger; Secretary, Maxine Walker; and Treasurer-Business Manager, Dick Hudson. L. W. Nixon has been director of all dramatic productions.

The Kansas Theta chapter of Phi Rho Pi national honorary forensic society, was organized in 1934 in the El Dorado Junior College. The chapter and the charter members were installed by the Kansas Delta chapter of the Hutchinson Jr. College. The membership has constantly increased from five in 1934 to ten in 1936.

The purpose of Phi Rho Pi is well shown in the meaning of the Greek letters in its name. Phi—Phvatria, brotherhood; Rho—Rhetorecies, good speech; Pi—Piethee, persuasiveness. To advance social relations, to afford adequate expression of ability along lines of public speech, and to develop speaking ability—these are the objects of Phi Rho Pi.

Phi Rho Pi enjoyed its most successful season this year, climaxing a successful campaign with the winning of sixth place in the national debate tournament by Belew and Owens. Up to that time, Juco debaters had brought home three cups and a shield as prizes in other tournaments. The other team, composed of Courtright and Rockwood, failed to place.

The season's activities were varied. The debaters didn't fare so well at the Southwestern tournament in December, but in the next tournament, a Phi Rho Pi invitational meet at Hutchinson, the men's team was one of the three undefeated teams. At the St. Johns' meet the men's team won second place. In the state meet they won third place.

Officers of the Phi Rho Pi this year were Howard Belew, pres.; Clark Owens, vice-pres.; Jack Stoltz, treasurer; L. W. Nixon, coach.

CHRISTIAN

During the first semester of the year 1929 teachers and Jucoites became interested in organizing the Y.M.C.A. After a party plans were launched for the "Y". The first sponsor of the organization was E. G. Dick. Incidentally Mr. Dick still is one of the sponsors.

The Y.M.C.A. is an organization for college men who are interested primarily in the development of Christian ideals and their application to the life of the college. Like all junior college organizations for the school year 1935-36, the Y.M.C.A. was unable to effectively carry out to a desirable degree the purposes of the organization. Our meetings for this year were for the discussion of personal and social problems. The ministers of the city cooperated with us in our discussions and aided us greatly. Subjects discussed concerned personal relations, social adjustments, and world peace.

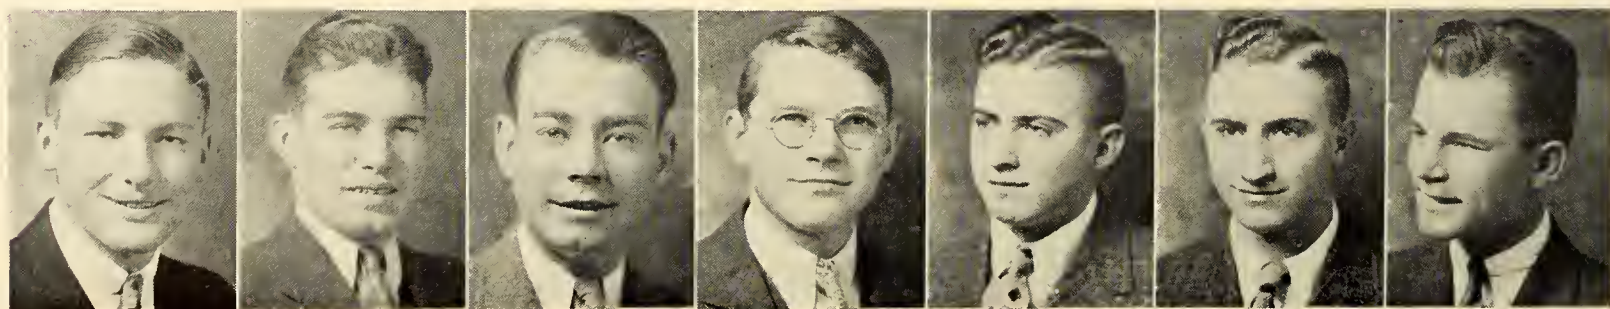

The lack of a regular meeting place, the difficulty in arranging a satisfactory meeting time—these made it difficult for the Y.M. to operate as efficiently as they would like. Their record, however, has been one of unusual achievement under the circumstances. The meetings for the past year, while not as well attended as was hoped were of the greatest interest to those who were always there. Meetings were, for the most part, devoted to the discussion of personal and social problems.

Definite plans for the coming year are under way, with a view of bringing to the junior college men in the fall of 1936 an interesting and effective program. We are looking forward to a highly successful and active year for the Y.M.C.A.

The officers for this year are Bob Steiger president; Kenneth Locke, vice-president; Allan Ayers, secretary-treasurer; Dean Walker, Mr. Dick, and Mr. Mossman, sponsors.

ASSOCIATIONS

The Y.W.C.A. opened the new school year with a "get-acquainted" party for all the girls of the college. The Sophomore girls took their Freshman "little sisters", and everyone was so friendly that the most timid Freshman soon was right at home. Next of the red-letter activities on the Y.W. calendar came the state conference at Iola. It was on this trip that seventeen girls took their memorable plunge into a muddy ditch, but in spite of the accident they brought back enthusiastic reports, and many are planning to go again next year. At Christmas time the Y.W., with the help of the Y.M., provided four families with Christmas baskets.

In February the organization sponsored an all-school Leap Year party. The girls made the dates, took the boys to the party, and escorted them home; the girls had to act the part of "perfect gentlemen" for the whole evening. Everyone thought the party was one of the most successful of the year.

During the year various interesting programs were held, and among the most entertaining were travel talks on Japan and Mexico, and a special program of music of various religions. The final affair will be the annual spring tea on May 8 for the senior girls of all Butler County high schools.

The cabinet for the first semester was as follows: President, Ruth Cresswell; Vice-President, June Owen; Secretary, Elaine Wilson; Treasurer, Evelyn Wilson; Program chairman, Lucille Hower; Social chairman, Zelma Falkner; Publicity chairman, Elizabeth Amy Snodgrass; Music chairman, June Speechly; Pianist, Janet Courtwright. Sponsors were Miss Milford and Miss Wrestler. These changes were made second semester: Secretary, Dorothy Sheldon; Treasurer, Cheryl Strait; Program chairman, Alice Gfeller.

SCIENCE CLUB

Like other school organizations, the Science Club has noticed a decrease in membership and attendance this year because of disrupted schedule. But in spite of all the resulting confusion we have had quite an interesting year.

Officers having been previously elected, activities got under way at once after the opening of school. Frank Ellis served as president filling the vacancy left by Norman Overholser, Virgil Tyler acted as secretary-treasurer, and S. H. Coffman as sponsor.

And now, to skim over the activities of the year: two projects were taken up— short-wave radio and micro-photography, and the telescope was completed. A motion picture on Boulder Dam was obtained and proved quite instructive; two talkies and a demonstration on light were given by the Kansas Gas and Electric Co.; "Colloids and Colloidal Solutions" was the subject of a talk given by Frank Ellis; Ralph Redburn gave an interesting as well as humorous talk on Louisiana; Elvin Brickley, former president of the club, told of his work at K.U.; Otis Wrench spoke on radio and Lola Mae Barnhill gave a very interesting lecture on flexible glass; and lastly in the category of events, there was a trip to Wichita and the big feed at which seventy-three hamburgers were consumed by nineteen persons. And to finish the year off right there was a big all night outing.—V.T.

SING SONGS OF-

This year three musical organizations represented the college at outside affairs. These appeared frequently at assemblies and were met with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The Girls' Trio, composed of Frances Snyder, soprano; Juanita Thompson, second soprano; Myriam Anderson, alto; and George Griffith, accompanist, was one of the most popular musical groups in town. They sang at teas, churches, club and school programs, and many other places. The girls worked hard and they well deserve their popularity.

The boys' quartette changed personnel almost entirely second semester. First semester the members were Jack Tanner, first tenor; Clark Owens, second tenor; R. J. Shields, baritone; and Roland Ferguson, bass. For the second semester the following members: Frank Brenzikofer, first tenor; Clark Owens, second tenor; J. D. Hill, baritone; and George Elson, bass. This group also was always received with acclaim by the student body; their repertoire was quite varied.

The string quartette appeared at teas, programs, plays, and at many other activities. This group was excellently trained; they played chamber music. The members of this group are Emma Rice, Juanita Thompson, George Griffith, and Clifford Clayton.

The Junior College mixed chorus, quartettes, and several solo numbers went to Pittsburg to the Spring Music Festival. There were very favorable comments received on all the numbers.

This is the first year that very much has been done along musical lines. Much of the credit goes to Miss Dail who has worked so long and hard to make these organizations successful.

Girls trio: F. Snyder, J. Thompson, M. Anderson, accompanist, G. Griffith.

Boys quartette: F. Brenzikofer, C. Owens, G. Elson, J. D. Hill

String quartette: Emma Rice, Juanita Thompson, C. Clayton, G. Griffiths.

FOOT BALL HEROES

Soggy fields, mud plastered from head to foot, unpleasant weather—these are some of the most lasting remembrances of the football squad.

Like club memberships the squad began to diminish. Nevertheless, by the very faithful work of "Tommy" and the interest that he created the football team remained intact. Even in his spare time "Tommy" would spend hours helping the players secure jobs, keeping them eligible, and giving them other aids.

As was the precedent established for a year or so, Juco failed to carry home the laurels. In fact we were quite far from them. Of the nine games played, three were won; two were tied; and four were lost.

Throughout the season the Grizzlies played without a definite captain. After the close of the season—in December at the Football Banquet—Tom Keefer was elected honorary captain of the preceding season. At the same time Gordon Cary was elected captain of the '36 team.

Many interesting things happened during the season—mud at every game, the crowd leaving the Emporia Teachers Reserve game at the half and missing the best part of the game, cooing and cuddling under fur coats and blankets on the sidelines, frequent substitutions, exciting moments when the ball was near the goal line.

But after summing it all up, a number of the squad received mention on the all-conference team compiled by the various Kansas newspapers. Cassell, Hudson, Barker, and Richey received honorable mention from the Independence paper. Secrist and Barker were given honorable mention on the all star team selected by the coaches in a poll conducted by the Iola Register. The Fort Scott Tribune placed Barker on the first team, and Cassel on the honorable mention.—J.S.

SHOOTING HIGH

for that goal.—After a season of this the Grizzlies came through with four smashing league victories this year, incidentally dropping seven games. However, the spirit of playing was much higher than the percentage of wins.

Breen proved to be a very capable captain, and when the team needed a goal he would drop one in from about a half mile out on the court in a manner that pleased the cash customers very much indeed. Bill Davidson made good use of his height at the pivot position, and succeeded in getting the tip in most of the games. He proved that no one could rough-house him and get away with it.

Juco's forwards, Clarence Borger and Gerald Groves, both contributed to the winning of the four games. Groves, a regular from last year had streaks of very brilliant playing. Borger, a star from Rosalia, was a steady, conscientious player. Elliott, smooth, shifty guard, was very useful in taking the ball away from the big boys and shooting it down to the forwards.

According to Tommy, he had a better class of substitutes this year than ever before, and frequent substitution was common in every game.

The hopes for next year are high, as Davidson, Borger, and Elliott, regulars, are expected back, along with "Smitty" Baker, George Heyman, Jodie Ray Lowrance, J. Harland Smith, Noble Cloud, and others, in addition to the new material which will be coming in.—S.B.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is an organization composed of men who have earned a letter in any of the college sports recognized by the school officials. These recognized sports are football, basketball, track, tennis, and golf.

The primary purpose and aim of the club is to stimulate school athletic activities. Since the club has set up certain requirements that its members must conform to, athletic awards have meant a great deal more. Moreover the standardizing of the letters and sweaters has given the club a very pleasing appearance.

Since its organization last year the membership has grown from twenty members of last year to twenty-eight members for this year. It is quite evident that the club has been a success, as it has proved to be an added incentive to college men to engage in athletic activities.

Two banquets are given regularly by the Varsity Club each year—these have proved to be the highlights of the college social life, especially for the athletes, and have always proved enjoyable and entertaining, as well as filling. The first banquet, held at the New York Restaurant was for "men only". The second, held the latter part of January, and the third, in May, were the type in which dates were permissible popular. The last one was held after the state junior college track meet to allow all lettering-men in track to be present.

Ladies and gentlemen, The Varsity Club for first semester: Pres., Dick Hudson; Vice Pres., Ray Smith; Sec. Treas., Bob Lewis. For second semester: pres., "Danny" Lewis; vice. pres., George Heyman; secretary, J. Harland Smith; treasurer, Kenneth Secrist; and sponsor, Coach Thomas.—D.L.

Spring Sports

Although the season of 1935 was not a complete success from the standpoint of victories, it was successful in that many individual entrants placed high in several meets. Barker, Brooks, Britting, Gibson, Holecek, Holt, Hudson, Lowrance, and Wiggers were consistent point winners in the track and field events. Lewis, Shields, and Bramble won several victories in tennis, and Atkinson placed second in the state golf meet. An effort was made last year to find the best times and distances of past Juco stars in order to establish a set of school records. Two of these were broken when Gibson hurled the discus 125 feet 6 inches in the Ark City meet, and another fell with Hudson's 172 feet, 10 inch toss in the javelin in the El Dorado meet.

Included in the spring sports program for this is an inter-class soft ball tournament organized among the three high school classes, a junior high and two college classes. The freshmen elected Clifford Clayton as their captain, and the sophomores chose Kenneth Locke to manage their team.

Play is to continue until a double round-robin has been played. At this time the college freshmen are leading with two victories against one defeat.

This year's track and tennis season opened with the tri-angular meet at Hutchinson. In winning the low hurdles E. Lowrance lowered the old school record to 25.9 seconds. This was by far the outstanding race of the meet. Scores of the meet were: Hutchinson 47, El Dorado 41, Ark City 29. In tennis J. Harland Smith and Lewis won their matches in the singles but were defeated in the doubles.

The quadrangular meet at El Dorado produced several good marks. Gibson broke his own school record with a nice heave of 127 ft., 7 in., in the discus. B. Davidson's leap of 6 ft., 1 in., in the high jump establishes a new record. Heyman made a nice 39 ft., 4 in., put in the shot, Hudson's 174 ft., 9 in., toss on the javelin is a little below his record of 175 ft., 1 in., made at the Kansas Relays earlier this season. The tennis doubles avenged their defeat at Hutchinson by winning their match.—D.H.

In the Future

The meditative mood steals over us. We would vision the future of E.J.C. but what does this mean.

All this means that down the future years ever-increasing numbers of students from the length and breadth of Butler and adjacent counties will flock to E.J.C. to get not only adequate and well-ground academic preparation, but also to get the finer cultural values of life such as art, music, and finer appreciation in all the varied fields of human interest and endeavor.

Many, not desiring more than two years of education, beyond the high school, will come for a finished preparation along vocational and semi-professional lines. With this practical training plus a good cultural back-ground, they will immediately go out to serve their state and nation well in schoolrooms, shops, offices, on the farms, and in various other worthy fields.

To the modern, commodious, well-equipped E.J.C. building, now arising among the ruins of the old McKinley and Senior High School buildings, increasingly larger numbers of students will annually turn. Only a few years off we see a student body of five hundred instead of three hundred.

With the adequate and capable faculty offering a much broadened and enriched curriculum future students will get the preparation and inspiration which they need and deserve.

Students in those coming years, appreciating the educational advantages denied to those in so many other communities, will lift high the purple and gold E.J.C. banner and lustily and proudly sing alma mater.
